1909 Gardenia Drive
Cusimano Architect

Located in Houston's growing Oak Forest neighborhood, this home embraces a contemporary craftsman style to serve as the identity and development of the house.

2040A Arlington Street
Brett Zamore Design

Located in the Houston Heights, this dog-trot inspired pool house has an open covered central breezeway with front and back decks that are as much interior as exterior. Its simple and clear plan runs the width of the property and offers privacy from the public street to the private backyard with pool.

2171 University Boulevard
Intexure Architects

Located on tree-lined West University Boulevard, this home was conceived with the idea of a treehouse in mind. The forms of the house nestle into the mature live oak canopy. Durable materials and low maintenance solutions add practicality to the design.

2326 Tangley Street
Dillon Kyle Architects

This Southampton residence blends the owners' desires for indoor/outdoor living with their appreciation of a minimal, clean-lined aesthetic. A central courtyard, expansive windows, and power from a solar array are stand out features.

2923 Drexel Drive
studioMET

The Drexel residence thoughtfully responds to its street context and to the needs of an active young family. The house's U-shaped massing creates both private and social spaces for the family and guests. Through material selections appropriate to time and climate, the house invokes meaningful nostalgia for the owners.

8725 Banzer Street
RD Architecture, LLC

This remodel-turned-new-construction emphasizes quality over quantity, redefining the iconic 3/2 Houston ranch home. It is 21st century modern, filled with carefully thought out and well-executed details that inspire the homeowners and visitors alike.

2018 AIAH DESIGN AWARD RECIPIENT
Located in Houston's Spring Branch district, this home seeks to develop programmatic and spatial opportunities in the cavity of a normative gable roof profile. The accentuation of the ridge line enabled the necessary spatial clearances for the family to occupy what would typically be the attic or underutilized plenum zone.
